This studio specializes in private instruction for traditional and commercial guitar playing, and offers supplemental instruction in music theory. The instructors are highly skilled professionals committed to realizing the potential in each student on an individual basis. Regular support provided by the instructor will enhance each stage of the student's development and may help the student to build concentration, musical skills, and self-confidence. Recital opportunities provided by the studio are highly recommended, however, participation is not mandatory. Lessons are available year-round and must be scheduled consecutively in advance. Minimum commitment period is four lessons. Most lessons are scheduled back-to-back so, please arrive and depart punctually and do not expect your instructor to give your full-length lesson if you arrive late.

Cancellations: Do not ask your instructor to initiate any schedule changes for you! All re-scheduling must be done by way of the studio telephone with at least 48 hours of advance notice. The rescheduling of lessons with less than 48 hours notice may only be allowed wherein certain cases of sudden illness or hazardous weather conditions are involved. In any case, the rescheduled lesson must be attended within the seven day period following its original date or it is to be forfeited.

Tuition fees: All fees are non-refundable and are due at the first lesson in each period.

Additional costs: 1) Two paid holidays per year: In the course of one calendar year the studio will close for two separate one-week periods, with exact dates to be determined annually. Regular appointments scheduled during these breaks will be counted as if attended. 2) Recitals: The cost to participate ranges from $30 to $75. Actual costs will depend on the location, plus -where music is to be performed with an ensemble- any additional studio-time required to rehearse with the ensemble. In such cases these costs would be determined and announced in advance. 3) Instructional materials: Each is priced individually to include a 5% MD sales tax.
